

K25 Aluminium Roller shutter

This development in Hertfordshire was a new high end build, so it was a natural choice to have HVP Shutters fit the external roller shutters.

The most important detail for the client was that the header box was all hidden.

New Build Development Hertfordshire K25 slotted roller shutters

This bungalow in Kings Langley, Hertfordshire is a high end development. The architect builder on the project was doing a complete refurbishment and required roller shutters to match the look of this contemporary family-home.

For various reasons, the K25 aluminium roller shutter was the best choice. Made from extruded aluminium, the K25 is strong, but lightweight. It also rolls up into a small box, which can be hidden from view.

The most important detail for the client was that the header boxes were all hidden. The security shutters also had to operate quietly, be easy to maintain, let in light when closed, and match the building's modern look.

We were very happy to be invited on this high end residential project. Working with the project's architect we came to a solution for the home's roller shutters that strikes a perfect balance between elegance and security.
